July 14th 2026

(Mrs Pam Bellis, FPC Chair)

It will be reviewed annually at the nearest comparable meeting date (or earlier if appropriate).

General Statement

St James' is committed to the Health and Safety (H&S) of everyone using the Church, Church Hall and outside areas associated with the premises.

We aim to provide a safe environment for work, worship and leisure activities, by managing foreseeable hazards posed by property, equipment, circumstances and individual behaviours.

To minimise the risk of injury/damage to people and property, St James' will:

- endeavour to meet all its legal and reasonable social responsibilities in relation to the premises, facilities and equipment;
- provide appropriate training for church staff and volunteers;
- make information and advice available to other users of the buildings,

Annual risk assessments in relation to Fire and H&S issues are carried out in the Autumn quarter of each year by the Finance and Property Committee, and reported - with recommendations / action plans / amendments to the policy - to the Church Council in November. Interim issues arising from accidents, incidents and other information received, will be managed in a timely way¹ and included in the annual report.

This policy is reviewed annually, and revised as necessary.

Responsibilities

Overall responsibility for H&S lies with the Church Council (Trustees of the Charity) but, for practical purposes, specific aspects of that responsibility will be delegated as described in the policy.

Section 1: Accident and Incident Reporting

- (a) All accidents on church premises must be reported to a responsible person at the time they occur, e.g. the person leading the activity taking place - who will make a record in the Accident /Incident Book(s).²
- (b) All incidents (i.e. unusual or unexpected events of any kind) must be similarly reported and recorded.

The Property Manager should also be notified of accidents and incidents, especially any which may have an immediate effect on others using the premises, so that prompt remedial action can be taken where necessary. All such events are brought to the attention of the next meeting of the most appropriate church committee(s) for information and a review of current arrangements to take place.

- (c) In the event of an accident or incident resulting in injury, medical action appropriate to the circumstance must be initiated by the Group Leader or, wherever possible in the case of children or vulnerable adults, by a parent or carer.
- (d) First Aid boxes can be found in: the Church Kitchen and the Church Hall Kitchen
The contents are checked regularly by the named Lead 1st Aider to ensure that the items are adequate and in date.

Groups using either the church or hall under a letting agreement are asked to report/record accidents and incidents as part of their terms and conditions. They are made aware of the first aid boxes but are expected to make their own appropriate first aid and fire safety arrangements.³

SECTION 2 – Fire / Emergency Safety

St James' recognises

- the need for clearly defined and practiced safety procedures for use in an emergency,
- the inherent difficulties applying such procedures and keeping accurate registers when large numbers of unnamed individuals are on the premises.
- the newer issue of implementing a potential lockdown rather than an evacuation, effective steps for which are still under consideration.
- Enhanced building security measures.

The responsibilities of Event Organisers and Steward Elders in emergency situations are described in the agreed Emergency Management Plan, a copy of which appears as Appendix 1 to this document. They are reviewed regularly (at least annually) and the policy and procedure are updated as appropriate.

All Staff, Church Officers, Church Group Leaders and regular Volunteers are made aware of the procedures through Church Council and/or their regular group meetings. Group Leaders are responsible for cascading this information to their groups with particular reference to the sound of the alarm, and exit and assembly points.

Emergency information notices are posted in both buildings and everyone over the age of 16 using the premises is required to observe the instructions.

² These books are kept in the church kitchen and the hall kitchen close to the first aid boxes.

³ See relevant paragraph in each agreement

Both the church and hall are equipped with fire extinguishers which are serviced regularly in accordance with statutory requirements and appropriate training in the use of these will be provided.

- Fire alarms, extinguishers and emergency lighting systems (where they are in place) are tested, checked and maintained annually in accordance with legal requirements and current schedules. (See Section 4b, below).
- The hall fire alarm is checked regularly and the details recorded on the Annual Record Chart.
- Fire drill evacuation procedures for both buildings are completed periodically and recorded in Annual Record Chart.

Groups hiring the premises are advised of their responsibilities for Fire/Emergency Safety within the letting agreement.²

SECTION 3 - Safeguarding

A copy of the Safeguarding Policy appears as Appendix 2 to this document and is posted separately on the website.

SECTION 4 – Building & Property

This section addresses H&S issues for which the Church is directly responsible as Trustees of the premises, professional landlords and hosts for church-led functions. It also seeks to reflect the duty of care owed to whoever is using the buildings by agreement, and to the wider community, whether or not anyone is on the premises.

a. Risk assessments

Members of The Finance and Property Committee undertake regular risk assessments of the Church Premises under all the headings contained in this policy, complying with advice and guidance issued by the Methodist Church through their Property Services update and in conjunction with the completion of the annual Methodist Connexional Property Report. A statement of the findings is forwarded to the November meeting of the Church Council, together with the Property Report, and any proposed amendments to this policy for discussion and endorsement. Risk assessments for regular church-led activities are reviewed annually or, for any other less frequent events, created or reviewed individually in advance.

The Finance and Property Committee annually verifies the absence (or presence) of asbestos based material on the premises by the maintenance of an Asbestos Report and Register and in a statement to the Church Council contained within the Connexional Property Report.

Where a previously unforeseen risk has been identified between the annual assessments, say via the Accident and Incident reporting system, immediate steps will be taken by the Finance and Property Committee to assess and mitigate potential future danger from the same or similar source. Any action taken as a result will be included in the annual report to the Church Council, and reflected in the policy as appropriate.

St James' recognises its responsibility towards the church family at special events organised by the church either on or off the premises. Each event is individually assessed for risk by the organisers.

b. Maintenance and Repair

- i. St James' accepts responsibility for the prompt and efficient maintenance and repair of the premises, facilities and equipment provided, to maximise the safety of everyone using them. The Property Manager regularly 'walks round' the buildings, and:
- notes any work needing to be put in hand,
 - seeks estimates for repairs and maintenance, or asks other appropriate people to do so,
 - authorises and arranges repairs and maintenance in consultation with the Finance and Property Committee.

The Property Manager also ensures that fire safety, gas and electrical systems and equipment, both fixed and portable, are serviced in accordance with legal requirements and current schedules.

- ii. Everyone using the building has a responsibility to help the Church maintain a safe environment by
- ensuring the premises, facilities and equipment are only used for the purposes for which they were provided,
 - following safety instructions and signs, and
 - reporting accidents and incidents promptly to their group leader and/or the Property Manager.

c. Responsibility to contractors working on the premises

Any contractors working on the premises will be informed ⁴ that they must comply with the requirements of the Health and Safety at Work Act 1974 and that their employees, sub-contractors, trainees or volunteers must be made aware of their own duties and liabilities under the act. Information about known hazards on the premises and the emergency procedures will be made available to contractors at the same time.

SECTION 5 - Personal Health & Safety Matters

This section addresses risks which have been identified by St James' Church and for which a proportion of corporate responsibility is acknowledged. However, in the following paragraphs the degree of risk is significantly increased through the way people interact with the buildings, facilities and equipment, so the church seeks to raise awareness of individuals' responsibility and the co-operation of everyone using the church's buildings. A summary of the information in the following paragraphs is made widely available in leaflet form. (See Appendix 5)

Areas of church premises which may require increased levels of awareness with regard to the personal health and safety of staff, church officers, volunteers, users and members of the public include:

- Kitchens
- Cellars
- Storage spaces such as the church loft, above the stage, and over the corridor accessed from the small front hall
- Gardens & other areas of the grounds
- Steps into church
- Road crossing between the church and hall etc

The policies and procedures to cover potential risks in these areas are as follows.

⁴ By the person requisitioning /supervising the work

a. Lone working and personal security

Keyholders are the most vulnerable when preparing for, or clearing up after, group sessions, but the ratio of leaders/children in Junior Church can also present a potential risk.

Wherever possible, no-one should be alone on church premises without permission and/or knowledge of another church person.

If this is unavoidable, St James' has clearly defined procedures to maximise the personal security of anyone who is alone

- i. in church - these procedures are contained in printed and laminated notices on the rear door and lift door, and in the job descriptions for Steward Elders;
- ii. in the church hall - which has double-locking access for added security. NB: special care must be taken that children are NEVER be taken into the church hall with only one adult present, even if the adult is a parent of one or more of the children. This presents a Safeguarding Risk and may also increase the potential for harm to the children and/or adult in the event of an accident.

All keyholders and users of the church and church hall are expected to be aware of the procedures in place and observe them at all times.

No-one should be afraid/reluctant to ask for help or for someone else to be present.

Lone workers on church premises (inside or outside)

- are required to request permission to be there (in advance) from the Property Manager (to avoid conflict with other users/contractors etc),
- must have a fully charged mobile phone with them at all times,
- on arrival to text their Group Leader or the Property Manager or another authorised person advising where they will be and for approximately how long. A further text should be sent when leaving the building.
- Everyone using the hall must sign in and out on the sheet by the front door, no matter how long/short a time they are on the premises.

This information is distributed to all new keyholders, volunteers and groups using the premises, in their hire contract or via the H&S leaflet.

b. Handling Cash

e.g. Sunday Collections, mid-week / social events etc

In principle,

- cash belonging to the church or being handled by the church on behalf of other organisations should always be the shared responsibility of at least 2 people from different households, however, recognising the timing of church events and the increasingly restricted access to banking facilities,

- cash up to the value of £4,000 may be held overnight at home but must be banked as soon as possible after that.

Whenever the general principles cannot be observed for any reason

- all the required records must be made and signed by 2 people
- extreme care should be taken when transporting cash off church premises;
- in the case of an attack, personal safety takes precedence.

Anyone handling or transporting cash on behalf of the church, who has any concerns about security or personal safety, is encouraged to ask for the help and support of a church officer.

c. Manual handling

This might involve moving chairs, tables, the stage-platform extension panels, the communion rail, containers of hot or cold liquids, loaded trays, garden supplies, storage boxes into and out of confined or overhead spaces, etc.

St James' firmly discourages anyone from handling/lifting/moving or attempting to handle/lift/move these or similar items without the assistance of others and appropriate training/advice and equipment (e.g. trolleys provided for the purpose).

At the same time, St James' warmly embraces its duty of care to those working on the premises, renting them, or carrying out volunteer tasks. Therefore:

- Appropriate training is given to those with overall responsibility for H&S, and others as identified.
- Information, raising awareness of the risks and best practice to minimise them, is made available to all staff, church officers, volunteers, and users / others via posters on notice boards in both buildings.
- A note raising awareness of potential manual handling risks appears in the H&S information leaflet.

The Finance and Property Committee regularly monitors the procedure for moving items from one building to the other, to make it as safe as possible.

d. Slips and Trips

These might be caused by wet floors due to unmarked leaks and spills, obstructions in door- and passage-ways, loose or trailing cables & wires, uneven paving stones, any external floor surface (steps, ramps paving etc.) covered with wet leaves or ice, etc. The risk of accidents is considerably greater in these areas and conditions if people are also carrying awkward or heavy objects which might obstruct their vision or balance.

St James' warmly embraces its duty of care to keep all internal and external floors and walkways safe. This includes

- regular and frequent clearing and cleaning
- appropriate lighting
- clearly marking obstructions or trip/slip hazards until they are resolved/removed.

The Property Manager and/or Duty Steward/Elder carries out regular checks, especially before either building is opened for public use by the church, and responds promptly to any concerns raised through the accident and incident reporting process.

Staff, Church Officers, Volunteers and Users are expected to act responsibly in relation to the introduction and identification of potential slip/trip hazards and always to replace all church equipment in the room/position in which they found it on arrival. Nothing should be brought onto the premises and left there without first notifying, and obtaining the express permission of, the Property Manager.

e. Working at Heights (i.e. other than when standing on the floor.)

For Staff, Church Officers, and Volunteers, occasions to work at heights may occur when accessing the church loft, small hall and over-stage spaces, accessing items from high shelves and overhead cupboards [e.g. in the kitchens and vestry], putting up Christmas decorations, locking/unlocking the front doors of church, erecting dismantling items in the gardens, e.g. the outside Christmas tree / cross, etc.

Activities requiring working at heights should have very limited application to anyone renting the church buildings.

Any essential activity requiring the use of a step-ladder must not be undertaken by anyone:

- Below the age of 18, and
- without previous training / experience, and
- working alone.

Activity relating to building/property maintenance requiring the use of stepladders must not be undertaken without prior notice to, and permission from, the Property Manager.

All such equipment is inspected regularly and maintained and stored safely.

St James' undertakes to make step-stools available in both buildings for appropriate lower-level use.

No-one renting the buildings, or present as a member of the public, should use anything other than one of the step-stools provided for tackling a task above ground level.

Standing on a chair or table to complete a task that would otherwise be out of reach is not permitted under any circumstances.

Specific agreements about working at heights will be reached with external contractors working on the premises.

f. Equipment:

This includes the use of church-provided electrical items, sound systems, gardening, kitchen, and cleaning items, and those in the office and photocopying rooms, and any items brought onto the premises by church groups or hirers etc.

St James' undertakes to

- maintain all equipment permanently on the premises to a high standard, including annual checks by qualified electricians and other professionals as appropriate,
- provide all necessary training in the use of equipment to appropriate users,
- provide safe, accessible storage for authorised equipment.

Staff, Church Officers, Volunteers and others using the building must:

- report items of equipment found to be faulty, via the Incident Reporting Procedure (see Section 1c above), and/or to the Property Manager, and, if portable, remove the item from use or attach a sign stating "faulty, must not be used"
- switch off all equipment when not in use, and when leaving the building at the end of a session unless a specific notice indicates otherwise,
- replace equipment as and where it was found at the start of their session,
- ensure that portable items of electrical equipment brought onto the premises for sessional use are available for PAT testing annually on request.
- observe standards of hygiene/safety in kitchen and toilet areas (especially when in charge of a group),
- dispose of all waste safely in the appropriate bins.

Staff, Church Officers, Volunteers and others using the building must NOT, without the permission of the Property Manager:

- attempt to repair any faulty equipment unless qualified to do so
- leave any items of equipment on the premises or in non-designated storage areas.

g. Hazardous substances:

The most likely location for these, in generally accessible areas of the church premises is in the kitchens and sluice room (e.g. cleaning materials), and church garden storage area (e.g. gardening and de-icing products). Other, less publicly accessible locations include the office & photocopying room (e.g. glue, ink) and in the cellars (e.g. craft paint or decorating materials). However, it is recognised that church groups and other users of the buildings who have their own designated storage areas might bring other toxic or flammable substances onto the premises, e.g. paint, glue, aerosol cans etc.

St James' undertakes to act responsibly in relation to the storage and use of any necessary chemicals and substances, by:

- maintaining a COSHH register ? for relevant items
- keeping items for immediate use in closed cupboards or on higher shelves, and restricting access to these areas for young people and unauthorised members of the public,
- storing bulk purchases safely out of the public view, and in closed/locked cupboards,
- carrying out regular checks of any part of the buildings not frequently used to prevent the build-up of unauthorised, out-of-date, unnecessary or forgotten items, and disposing of any such items appropriately, and
- disposing of any unwanted chemicals or other substances in a safe and legal way.

The primary responsibility for all such issues lies with the Property Manager, but Staff, Church Officers, and Volunteers must act responsibly, be alert and responsive to inherent dangers, and raise any concerns promptly.

Users are informed of church policy in relation to these matters, and asked to confirm the presence and storage conditions of any chemicals/ dangerous substances in their own designated storage areas. The church reserves the right to insist on the removal of such items if the safety of the storage arrangements is in any doubt.

h. Restricted areas

Some parts of the church premises are designated either as areas where people should not be at all, or as accessible only to authorised people, or at specific times e.g. all storage areas, kitchens, the church balcony, the back of church, side passage behind the lift gate etc.

St James' undertakes to indicate clearly any areas of restricted access by appropriate notices, to ensure that the premises are as safe as possible.

Staff, Church Officers, Volunteers and others using the buildings are required to take note of the information provided and respect the restrictions. Previous practice, custom and usage are not viable reasons for ignoring any currently indicated restrictions.

Anyone authorised to be in restricted areas should acknowledge the rationale behind the restrictions, proceed with caution while there, and leave those areas as quickly and safely as possible.

i. Health and Safety Training

Specific training issues have been identified throughout the individual paragraphs in the policy, e.g. manual handling, food safety/hygiene, use of fire extinguishers, emergency evacuation procedures (including use of the evacuation chair), keyholder responsibilities, safeguarding, carrying out risk assessments etc.

Formal training in the procedures mentioned is offered to all new Staff, Church Officers, Church Group Leaders, regular Volunteers and others as appropriate, to ensure that everyone is aware of key health and safety issues, and is equipped to keep themselves, the premises / facilities / equipment, and other users as safe as possible.

Additional training will be offered to meet the requirements of individual situations, and a H&S information leaflet is available to everyone at all times to endorse the church's overall Health and Safety messages.

A register of H&S training will be kept by the Property Manager.
